This produce is as ripe and juicy as you would find at your local grocery store. It sells for a not-for-profit price, often saving you as much as 1/3 to 1/2 of your usual produce bill!

Getting a Good Food Box is simple:

Each neighbourhood drop-off site (depot) has a volunteer coordinator who collects advanced cash payment for the box.

The produce is brought to our warehouse where a team of dedicated volunteers help carefully sort and pack each box.

Our drivers then deliver the boxes to depots throughout the city - within hours of our having received the produce!

Then just head over to your depot, fill your bags and take your delicious produce home. Two weeks later, we do it all again!
