

Ahmed Fekri

Ahmed Fekry is a much sought after middle eastern dance teacher in Egypt and throughout Europe. He is a featured instructor at the Nile Group Festival organized by Aida Nour in Egypt, at the Stockholm Belly Dance Festival in Sweden, and was also involved in the Ahlan Wa Sahlan Festival organized by Raqia Hassan.

Ahmed excels at teaching Oriental “Raks Sharki”, Tahtib, Saidi, Shaabi, Hagalla and other folklore styles. His background includes work with a number of folkloric troupes in Egypt including working with Mahmood Reda in the the National Folkloric troupe of Egypt. Currently living and working in Germany, he conducts workshops all over the European continent and elsewhere including, Sweden, Norway, Chezque Republic, Iceland, Russia and Brazil. He is a very charismatic and energetic instructor with a breadth of knowledge in folklore and Oriental dance.

Workshop Topics Saturday 10 AM - 12 PM Reda Technique and combinations

The leadership of Mahmood Reda is undeniable in Oriental Dance. This workshop will explore the basics of his techniques. We will learn some basic combinations that will be used in the choreography taught in the afternoon session.

Saturday 1:30 PM - 3:30 PM Oriental Choreography

We’ll build on what we’ve learned in the morning to learn a “classical” Oriental choreography.

Sunday 10 AM – 12 PM

Folklore Techniques – “tahtib”

We will explore various folklore techniques that use the “tahtib” through short combinations. We’ll draw on these same combinations in the afternoon choreography session.

Sunday 1:30 – 3:30 PM

“Tahtib” Choreography

We’ll do a choreography using the “tahtib” that draws on folklore steps learned in the morning workshop.
